

Presented by The Creature Production Company in association with BBC Worldwide

WALKING
WITH DINOSAURS
THE ARENA SPECTACULAR

"A THUNDERING COMEBACK AFTER
65 MILLION YEARS!"

New York Times

BBC

DO STUDENTS KNOW WHAT A DINOSAUR IS?

The word dinosaur means
'terrible lizard' in Greek.

Dinosaurs evolved around 230 million years ago and lived in the Mesozoic period known as the 'age of reptiles.'

There were more than 700
different types of dinosaurs.

Some were very fast like Velociraptor
but some were slow and lumbering, like Ankylosaurus.

Some had horns and spikes, or bumpy skin.
But no one actually knows the colors or patterns of dinosaur skin.

Dinosaurs ruled Earth for about 160 million years, then suddenly died out around 65 million years ago.

Scientists called paleontologists study fossils and old bones to find out more about dinosaurs and how they lived.

AT SAN JOSE

DEC. 26-30

WWW.DINOSAURLIVE.COM
WWW.HPPAVILLION.COM/WWD